BREAKING NEW GROUND 2001

Our Theme

When we chose "breaking new ground" as our theme, it was based on our entrance into the new millennium--the year 2001. As the year progressed, changes in our school, community and country redefined and broadened our theme to encompass them all.

Breaking New Ground in 2001

Holbrook High still looks peaceful amidst the changes over the summer.

New Square

Changes are slowly being made here in Holbrook. First, Dunkin Donuts moved to a nicer, easier-to-access location on Union Street. Demolition began and soon the corners of South Franklin and Union streets were bare. Businesses closed or relocated to accomodate Walgreens. These changes "broke new ground" to improve the vitality of our small town.

Holbrook's New Look

Holbrook Square underwent major demolition during the beginning stages of renovation.

Andrew Card

George W. Bush was elected president this year after a long, tumultuous and controversial election. President Bush brought with him a Holbrook native, Andrew Card. Andrew Card was appointed Chief of Staff, "breaking new ground" by putting Holbrook in the news.

Holbrook in the News and in the Whitehouse

THE WHITE HOUSE WASHINGTON

February 7, 2001

Dear Fellow Bulldogs,

As the song says, "I'm from Holbrook and I couldn't be any prouder!" Over 35 years ago, I graduated from Holbrook High School. The opportunities since then have been tremendous. Yet I still hold my memories of being an HHS Bulldog among the best. Teachers like our Class Advisor John Spillane, Principal Bill Buckley, and Coach Jack Walsh as well as classmates like Barbara, Andrea, Gayle, Tiny, Ken, Bob, Jack and Ashley (to mention a few) remain close and valued friends. Most of all, I appreciate that one classmate, Kathi, who became my wife of 33 years.

Remembering that the Class of 1965 motto was "We are Not Born for Ourselves," reminds me that the values I bring to any job - including my current position as Chief of Staff to President George W. Bush - were nurtured way back then. My experiences at HHS, combined with a strong family and supportive friends have shown me that when people care about each other the way folks do in Holbrook there is no limit to what we can do. I am grateful for the strong foundation of education and civic responsibility that my parents and HHS instilled in me. I feel I am one of many from HHS who value what Holbrook gave to us, and who hope to encourage others to dream big, always knowing, "we are not born for ourselves."

Sincerely,

Andy Card

Andrew H. Card Jr.
Chief of Staff to The President

"Andy is a fine representative for the American people. His honesty, perspective and compassion help make him the exceptional leader he is. My friendship with him and his wife Kathi means a lot to me. Kathi and Andy have both achieved meaningful postions in their lives. The combination of these two personalities is unstoppable. Kathi and Andy have only begun to make history."

Andrea Cosindas

A letter from the Chief of Staff

We looked to Mr. Card as we thought about how Holbrook graduates continue to break new ground in the world. After a few phone calls to and from the White House, we received a much anticipated response from the new White House Chief of Staff. It was worth the wait.

Superintendent's Message

Although much was made over the arrival of the year 2000, it is really 2001 that marks the dawn of the third millennium. Thus, by definition, the class of 2001 is the "millennium" class--a claim no other group of students can make for another thousand years! The arrival of a new millennium brings with it unlimited possibilities and a sense of wonder for that which is yet to come. So too, every member of this graduating class brings his or her own lifetime of unlimited possibilities -- a sense of wonder, anticipation, and excitement -- upon leaving high school to enter adulthood.

As the world moves into this new millennium, one thing is certain: change is inevitable, for it is the nature of human existence. Thus, the millennium class will be "breaking new ground" as it takes its place in our society and world. The world of tomorrow will become whatever you make it! So then, to each of you my very best wishes for much success and happiness as you live your life to its greatest potential and make your mark on the history of the world. May you always take wisdom, strength and confidence from the loving nurture that has been provided you by your families, and the excellent academic preparation provided by your caring and dedicated teachers. My greatest wish is that you will always live honorable lives that continue to bring pride to your families, your friends, your community and especially to yourselves.

Dr. Malcolm Patterson, Superintendent of Schools

Principal's Message

The members of the class of 2001 are the first graduates whose senior year encompasses the new millennium. Your senior year does not bridge two centuries. Instead it stands clearly in the 21st century.

In your final days of high school you will ask friends and staff members to write a message in the 2001 yearbook--your book of memories. In the years ahead as graduation season arrives, you will open this book. You will relive memories, remember friends, and recall teachers and staff members who made a difference in your life. You may describe to a child high school life at the turn of the century.

Nostalgia, however, is not the purpose of education. Preparation is, and every day gives us a new opportunity. Add accomplishments to your memories each day. Keep old friends and make new ones. Visit us when you can. Each time you open this book, let it echo the experiences that led you to graduation. Let it remind you of the new ground you have broken in your life since your days here as a member of the Class of 2001.

We are a small school. I will remember each one of you. I wish each one of you good luck and much happiness in your life. Congratulations.

Mary V. DelSignore, Principal

Senior Class Officers

Our long journey through high school has come to an end. We will no longer go to our lockers and eat school lunches. The time has come for us to take the next step in our lives. As we prepare for our future, we will recall the many great times we shared at Holbrook. Our memories of making homecoming banners, selling ornaments at the craft fair, selling concessions at the basketball and football games and especially our class trip will stay in our hearts forever. We wish the members of the Class of 2001 much success and happiness in their future endeavors.

We, the Class of 2001, would like to express our gratitude for the huge commitment you made to us in 1998 when you started here. In the past three years you have not only been our advisor, but also our friend. You've helped us grow and develop into mature young adults.

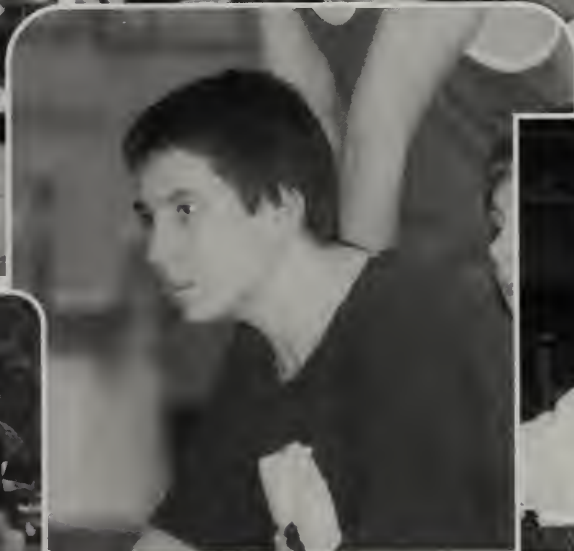

We can't thank you enough for the unforgettable memories: the winning homecoming banner in 1998, the prom, and the amazing trip to Walt Disney World. We will be forever grateful for the dedication you have shown us.

Class Officers

This year can be remembered as an especially successful one for the Junior Class. The beginning of the school year consisted of many nights after school constructing our Homecoming Banner. All our creative energy and some help from Mrs. Prescott paid off when, breaking tradition, our banner finally won! The rest of the year involved many after school brainstorming sessions about our plans for the Junior/Senior Prom and many prom fundraisers, such as Penny Wars, Kiss- O-Grams, the craft fair, and the fall Junior High Dance. Finally, the night that we all had been waiting for came: Prom 2001. It was a night to remember, as all of our hard work finally fell into place, and all that was left was for us to do was enjoy the evening. Our successful Junior year could not have happened without the hard work of our dedicated class executive board, class officers, and our advisor, Ms. Connors. The diligence, dedication, and of course, all of the fun times made our junior year a memorable one.

Andrew Baker, Kim Goodwin and Amy Elliot highlight some of the daily activities of the Class of 2002.

Class Officers

The Class of 2003 kicked off our second year of high school with new officers and a new co-advisor. Mr. Sullivan teamed up with Ms. Moriarty to lead our class into the real new millennium. One of our first projects was planting mums and bulbs in the flower bed in front of the main office. The compliments for our hard work were never-ending. The annual banner competition soon rolled around and our creative juices began to flow. Unfortunately, the wind was a little too strong for our volleyball-themed banner, but our dedicated riders still displayed their bulldog spirit. With the craft fair looming, Mr. Sullivan offered his ceramic studio for us to make beautifully decorated, and dare we say, priceless Christmas decorations. A new year and a new fundraiser filled our January with scents of Yankee Candles and orders. All our hard work paid off when we departed May 29 to the tune of I Love New York. The sights and sounds of the city that never sleeps were outstanding! Our year ended with the search for our prom locale and anticipation for our junior year.

Class executive board members Nick Baker, Daniella Piccirilli, and Melissa Coombs concentrate on cleaning and painting ceramics for the craft fair.

Class Officers

As we enter our first year of high school we look forward to all the tasks we have to accomplish within the next four years. Our advisor, Mrs. Kaplan, is going to help us out with our high school years. Our first task this year was to make our class banner for the Homecoming game. Right after we finished our banner, we kicked off our first fundraiser by doing the magazine drive. Soon after we were working hard on the craft fair. We hope that with all the fundraisers we are doing now, we will have a great foundation for our later years.

ONWARD AND UPWARD!

Mrs. Andrea Cosindas

Over the past 17 years here, Mrs. Cosindas has taught Relationships and Family Living, Nutrition, Creative Needle Arts, Clothing and Textiles 1-3. "I loved having her twice a day last year," says Danielle Younie, "Her classes are the ones I looked forward to the most. I'll miss her!" "She makes learning fun, interesting, and the knowledge I gained from Relationships and Family Living class gave me good tips on how and what to expect when I have my own kids someday," said April Golden.

Walter Heleen

"Wally"

"Math Man (the algebra superhero) "

Mr. Heleen will be retiring this year after 35 years at HHS. He was inspired to teach by his high school mathematics teacher whom he described as "absolutely outstanding." Mr. Heleen's greatest challenge in teaching was remembering students' names. Wally plans to start his own hotdog stand and do lots of traveling.

Mrs. Mary Ann McMahon

Mrs. McMahon has taught at this school for 33 years. She attended Notre Dame Academy in Worcester. Her parents and family inspired her to become a teacher. "Even though neither where in the profession," she said, "they had great respect for it." Mrs. McMahon has most enjoyed working with students in her career. She says her biggest challenge was getting everything done, corrected and finished on time. After retirement, she plans to read, read, read and do some traveling! "I enjoyed her class in the seventh grade. I read one of my favorite books in that class, The Outsiders. It still is one of my all time favorites," said Jennifer Smolak.

RETIRING FACULTY

Mr. David Corayer
"Diamond Dave"

Mr. Corayer has been teaching mathematics at Holbrook High for 32 years. His inspiration for teaching was his "desire to work with young people." Mark Burke describes him as "patient and enthusiastic," going on to say, "he was always eager to help a student who was struggling with the work." After retirement, his plans are to continue operating his service station.

Ms. Susan Pollock

Ms. Pollock has been a science teacher here for 26 years. She was inspired to become a teacher after working as a camp counselor, teaching sailing swimming, archery, tennis, etc. She says her best memories from teaching have been when "students come back from college and tell me they are doing very well in chemistry."

Mr. William Bucceri
"Boo Cherry"

William Bucceri has been a science teacher here at HHS for 33 years. He says he was inspired to teach by his love for children. When asked about his favorite aspect of teaching in HHS, he responded by saying that he enjoys the fact that he has "played a small role in helping students become successful." Students described Mr. Bucceri as zany, cunning and witty. Mr. Bucceri intends to pursue his many hobbies after retiring, including photography, framing and matting. He may also take up a part-time job if he gets bored. But he says that is "highly unlikely."

Exchange Students

This year we hosted two wonderful exchange students, Dennis Larsen and Stefan Beuter. Dennis came to us from Kolenig in Denmark and Stefan from Bietenhausen, a small village near Munich in Germany. Since arriving in Holbrook, Dennis and Stefan have done some traveling, visiting San Francisco in October and Disney World on the class trip. They cheered on the New England Patriots, as well as helped the boys soccer team capture the 2000 league title.

a day of victory

On Friday, October 28, 2000 students packed the gym and danced all over while former student "TJ the DJ" Frederico supplied the music for the evening. The homecoming court made its appearance around 8:00 that evening. Homecoming Queen candidates Lauren Fuentes, Maureen Lewis, Kristina Piccirilli, Lindsey Tucker, and Jacqui Yunits were escorted to the dance floor by the Homecoming King candidates Nick Chalupa, Mark Burke, Brian Macauley, Jay McGaughey and Ryan Myers.

The annual parade took place the next morning and the football game started at 11:00. The marching band led the parade of convertibles with the Homecoming King and Queen candidates to the high school. The trucks with the decorated banners followed them. During halftime the banners circled the field and the Homecoming King and Queen were announced. Crowned by Joanna Lee and Paul Bachofner, Lauren Fuentes and Brian Macauley were crowned on this chilly October day.

The frigid day came to an end with a victory for Holbrook. The Bulldog defeated the West Bridgewater Wildcats, 50-6. Coach Tony Green felt that the most important player of the game was not a single person but all of the senior players, led by captains Ryan Myers, Nick Chalupa, Brian Macauley, and Bill Curry. The team felt revved by the electric atmosphere and by all of the supportive fans crowding around the field.

The Matchmaker

On January 12th and 13th, the Holbrook Jr./Sr. High School Music Parents presented Thornton Wilder's The Matchmaker. This hilarious dramatic comedy starred Erin Breen as Mrs. Dolly Gallagher Levi, Josh Reyes as Mr. Horace Vandegelder, and was brilliantly directed by Mr. George Sullivan. This entertaining mix of "Kodak moments" and knee-slapping punch lines proved to entertain the cast and crew as well as the audience.

With twists and turns in the plot, "added extras" and a few humorous memorable phrases ("Pudding, Cornelius?"), adults and children alike enjoyed this show.

Underneath the Winter Sky

The Knights of Columbus once again played host to the annual semi-formal which was held on January 26. This year's theme, "Underneath the Winter Sky," fit the night perfectly. Over 100 people gathered for the big event celebrating the end of mid-term exams and the halfway point of the school year. DJ James McLaughlin mixed it up for the excited crowd. The night was full of dancing, laughter and picture-taking. The dance floor was packed all night with students, an occasional teacher and even a special appearance from Officer Jack Reddy. After much dancing the night quickly came to a close with the Four Seasons' Oh What a Night.

Now that we are seniors, we have completed our investigation of our faculty and staff and want to report the following. Mr. Brummett is the first to arrive at 5:30 a.m. (at the latest) followed by everyone else. The bell rings at 7:30 and the school is off and running. There are lunches to be made, spills to be mopped up, cuts to bandaged, passes to be written and minds to be cultivated. Our teachers' first daily task is an eight-minute hallway duty, followed by attendance and the all-important lunch count. Six fifty-six minute classes and eleven four-minute passings keep everyone on the move. Our teachers spend their days teaching, encouraging, counseling, correcting, and coaching, to name buy a few of their duties. We have gained appreciation for the faculty and staff's time, effort, patience and dedication to us. They truly have made an impact on our lives.

Classroom Life

The new school year kicked off with a few new teachers and classes. We welcomed a new nurse, Mrs. Gainey. The new teachers include Mr. Green, Mr. Farrington, Mrs. Fontecchio, Miss Thorne, Miss Maloney, Miss Stewart, Mr. Jean-Louis, and Mrs. Carrol. Miss Swander was here as a student teacher from Stonehill for the first semester. The new-fashioned curriculum included Year-book, taught by Ms. Moriarty and Mrs. Boswell, and Peer Mentoring, advised by Mrs. McDermott and Ms. Acaro, and inspired by Heidi Prisco.

The office also had a fresh face added to its staff, Mrs. Tucker, as the guidance secretary. Newly renovated were the Special Education room and the Technical Preparation Lab. They brought a better learning environment for the students. A new addition to every classroom was a phone for the improved intercom system. Teachers appreciated the greater ease in calling the nurse or main office. All the fresh-faced teachers, rooms, and classes are appreciated by all of the students at Holbrook High and make classroom life a little bit more interesting.

STUDENTS SPEAK OUT

High school is about the students, right? So let's hear what they have to say! Are you a student full of gripes and complaints? We have dedicated a yearbook page to you. Some students want the bathroom doors changed, others would like to have school off 364 days of the year. What do you want?

"It's uncomfortable to be in the bathrooms and everyone walking by can hear you."

Michaela Jackson, Sophomore

"If we had seven periods in a day studies would be possible and homework would not be as stressful."

Danielle Younie, Junior

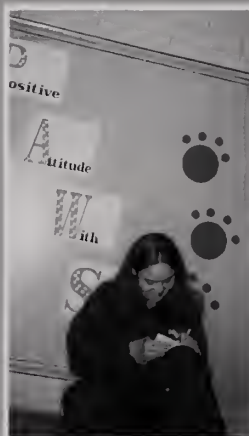

"No doors on the bathrooms is an invasion of students privacy."

Lauren Fuentes,
Senior

"Shorter periods would keep students more focused in classes."

Brian MacCauley,
Senior

"After attending this school for five years I think senior privileges should be a reward for seniors."

April Golden, Senior

"I feel if the library were more accessible research projects would be easier."

Under the direction of Coach Sharon Farrell and led by senior captains Kristina Piccirilli, Courtney Meier and Lauren Fuentes, the 12-3-2 team captured the Mayflower League Title for the second year in a row. The team fell short to Archbishop Williams in the quarterfinals of the State Tournament. The fast, experienced defense for the bulldogs was held together by Lauren Fuentes, Lindsay Hogan and Kristina Piccirilli. Freshmen Sarah Digiorlamo and Megan Haley also made major impacts for the defense. The midfield was led by Courtney Meier and Katie Kelly, setting up the team's scoring. Stephanie Mahoney, Missy Coombs, Michaela Jackson and Kim Goodwin played hard on the outside midfield. Lauren Mahoney and Jessy MacNeill led the scoring spree for the Holbrook forwards. The last line of defense was keeper Shauna Silvia, who had nine shut-outs on the season.

Five Burkes!! Mark, Mike, Ryan, Dave and Pete Burke pass the ball in pre-game warm-up. Four of the Burkes started for the Bulldogs this season. The oldest Burke, Mark, graduates this year, leaving only four Burkes to continue the winning tradition. The school held a day celebrating all five boys playing on the field simultaneously. Many of their family came to watch as well as students and staff. Not only do the Burke brothers excel on the field, but also in classroom.

The Tradition Continues

“ My best memory from this soccer season was ‘Burke Day’ held for my four brothers and me. It was a proud day for everyone in our family who all came to watch the game. I am also very proud of my brothers this year for the hard work they have put in throughout the whole season. ”

Marke Burke

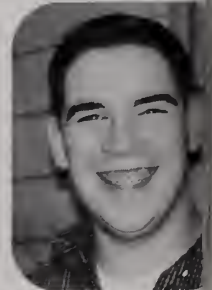

“ My most memorable moment from this past soccer season was when our team clinched the Mayflower League Championship. This marked the culmination of all the hard work everyone on our team put forth throughout the whole season. ”

Jay McGaughey

“ My most memorable game was vs. Bristol Plymouth in torrential rains. We won 4-0 and I had a shutout. It was the most important win of my high school career. I was so proud of everyone on the team. ”

Although the scores might not show it, this year's volleyball team did well. Since most of last year's players were seniors, there was only one junior left from last year's varsity team. The rest of the players were sophomores and other underclassmen.

The beginning of the season was tough, but the girls practiced hard, and by the end of the season they started winning. Coach Kristie Connors did a great job teaching the girls the skills needed to be good volleyball players.

The volleyball players have shown us that they have a lot of potential. Judging by the improvement already made by the team, in the next few years will see a very strong squad.

Let's Get Ready to Rumble

Wrestling

Wrestling season began with a new coach and a new addition, Kim Goodwin. Practice ran from 4:30 to 7:00 every day in the cafeteria. The 2 1/2 hours were packed with strength and endurance training and improving techniques. New coach Chris Fontecchio added amusement to practice with games like "Wrestling Monopoly," royal rumble and king of the ring.

Due to a lack of wrestlers, Holbrook teamed up with Cape Cod Tech to compete against larger schools. In their only home meet this year, our wrestlers came through with a victory over their friendly rivals, Cape Cod Tech. The team's hard work paid off when four Holbrook wrestlers competed in the sectionals: Mike Hathaway, Sean Hampe, Kyle Bowers, and Dave Allshouse.

Go Big Blue!

The cheerleaders had a very successful season this year with the help of their wonderful captains Janaye Taylor, Heidi Prisco, Mary McKinnies, and Heather Kapson. The squad competed at three competitions and placed very well at each.

Coach Erica Bachofner came back to the girls again this year, but unfortunately is moving to Florida this July. Erica helped the girls improve tremendously throughout the year. The girls worked twice as hard this year and each performance displayed their increasing talents and abilities.

The squad thanks Erica for all she's done throughout the years; she'll be greatly missed. The squad also thanks the seniors Janaye, Mary, and Heidi for all their hard work and commitment throughout their high school years. Good luck to the seniors and Erica!

Bouncing Bulldogs

Dedication and determination were not enough to bring success to this year's team. The varsity team was coached by Ed Callahan and assistant Mike Carbonneau. The seniors contributed greatly to the varsity team.

"The team is full of great kids, hard workers and over-achievers. The record doesn't speak for the success of this team," said Coach Callahan. Senior Woodsheil Dominique was the leading scorer in the Mayflower League, averaging 17.5 points per game.

Senior Joe Callahan also had a great season and performed as a team leader.

"The team should be commended for adapting to a new system and new coaches. Hard work was key to this smooth transition," commented Coach Carbonneau. Even though the varsity team didn't have a winning season, the potential for future victories lies within the 2001-2002 team.

The Echo Staff grew this year with the addition of the Yearbook class. With approximately twenty students working daily on deadlines, the work was more spread out, less intimidating and less stressful. The focused staff worked well all year, and met each deadline for the publisher, Jostens.

Under the supervision of infamous advisers Mrs. Boswell and Ms. Moriarty, the yearbook continued to come together successfully. The hard-working editors, writers, and photographers put their talents to the test and incorporated increasingly creative layouts and stories in the pages.

The staff achieved its goal of improving the quality of the book and incorporating new ideas with great excitement and enthusiasm. The members of the Echo staff are quite proud of the finished product and their part in its production.

The Bulldog Makes a Return

After a one-year absence, a new edition hits the stands.

After a one-year absence the school newspaper has returned. Under the leadership of science teacher Mrs. Kaplan, the resurrection of "The Bulldog" intends to make its first publication this spring. Seniors Courtney Meier and Liz MacNeil volunteered to begin the rebuilding process, while many talented underclassmen joined the staff as well.

The staff agreed, "We hope to see the newspaper flourish for years to come."

Student Council

PAWS

"Positive Attitude
With Spirit"

The fun starts here!

The 2000-2001 school year became very busy and fulfilling for the Student Council. The Council kicked off the year with the annual decorating of the school to get the kids back into school spirit. The delegates chose "PAWS" (Positive Attitude With Spirit) as their theme this year. A few months later, about 20 members of the council attended the fall conference at Dennis-Yarmouth High. The next big activity to enjoy was the annual Unique Retreat. This year they held one of the best retreats, thanks to the new format.

The council also inspired the new motto that can be heard around the school about anti-violence, which was "Hands Are Not for Hurting." Another fresh idea they began this year featured a new Student Council webpage. The group also continued collecting for charities. This year they collected for Globe Santa, Make a Wish Foundation, the Holbrook Food Pantry, and other local charities.

On January 26, the Student Council held the annual semi-formal at the Knights of Columbus. The second consecutive "Say What Karaoke" performance took place soon after. The experience the group gained this year made it better than last year. Student Council had another wonderful year and hopes next year will be just as terrific.

Stepping off to a new beat, Holbrook High School warmly welcomed their new band director, Allen Thomas. The new rehearsal schedule took a little getting used to. The band practiced hard every Wednesday and Friday after school to get ready for football season. Nerves set in as the first game rolled around. As the color guard and majorettes led the band to the field, it seemed like it would be forever until the half-time performance. When the clock hit two minutes they knew it was time. The band marched down to the end zone and lined up, ready to perform. The football players left the field as Cindy Riendeau took a deep breath. Her whistle rang loudly through the air and the band began marching downfield. When they hit their first positions, their spirits lifted and they began to play. The two majorettes, Erin Breen and Caitlin Flanagan, performed a new routine in front of the band, smiling the whole time. Andrea Smith, Nicole Mastrogiacono, and Sarah Morgan performed a flag routine to the song "I've Had the Time of My Life," which featured a solo by trumpeter Andrea Davis.

The band also performed in the annual Quincy Christmas Parade. Despite the postponement of the parade due to rain, everyone showed up with high hopes and great cheer. Marching this three-and-a-half-mile parade while playing Christmas music for the crowd was a first for some and a last for the seniors. While marching by the judge's stand, the band paid close attention to their formation. The band placed fourth in this competition with a total of 82.6 points.
